The man who Michael Connelly says 'invented the modern police novel' is back with the third and final novel in his acclaimed Hollywood Station trilogy

Description

One moonlit night, LAPD veteran Dana Vaughn and 'Hollywood' Nate Weiss, a struggling actor turned cop, get a call about a young man who's been attacking women. Meanwhile, two surfer cops known as Flotsam and Jetsam keep bumping into an odd, suspicious duo – a smooth-talking player in dreads and a crazy-eyed, tattooed biker.

No one suspects that all three dubious characters might be involved in something bigger, more high tech and much more illegal. After a dizzying series of twists, turns and chases, the cops will find they've stumbled upon a complex web of crime where even the criminals can't be sure who's conning whom.

Sales Points

- Hollywood Moon is the third book in the international bestselling Hollywood Station series
- 'Full of glimpses into the workings of low-level tech crime, [Hollywood Moon] provides lots of laughs and gasps along with a few tender sighs.... Spare and punchy prose fuels descriptions so on target that readers will feel they are riding shotgun, gazing out on Tinseltown's tawdry landscape.' – Publishers Weekly
- 'What other author could present cops, street people, and career criminals with such deadeye credibility? ... Crimes escalate and fun abounds' – Booklist
- 'That constant is the spine that runs through Hollywood Moon as it has through all Wambaugh's LAPD novels. It's what allows you to find the black humor genuinely funny and to experience these masterful novels as something more than entertainment' – Los Angeles Times
